

Product Manager

Development | Full-Time | Hamburg

At chess24 we're building the best chess platform for current and aspiring chess players.

As a team of IT professionals working with top international chess grandmasters and committed investors, we're creating a state-of-the-art interactive experience for both recreational and experienced chess fans. As a Product Manager you'll work in an interdisciplinary agile team and support us in all areas of chess24 development.

We offer you:

-  A warm welcome and phased introduction
-  A unique job in an inspirational environment where innovation is valued
-  A company with a high potential to grow and lots of creative ideas
-  An awareness that technical requirements and issues must be dealt with
-  A flat hierarchy with an open-minded and transparent environment
-  Flexible working hours
-  Free all-incl. catering
-  A free pass for public transportation

We look forward to your bringing passion and excellence in developing and growing an ecommerce product to our agile team.

Product Development

We see ourselves as a team crafting the software behind a product from rough ideas up to running solutions that are continuously delivered to our users.

As Product Manager you will manage stakeholders, listen to ideas, consult developers and build mock-ups with designers. You will listen to customer feedback and think about how to verify our assumptions about user needs. You will know how to write agile requirements and how to split them if needed. With our help you will maintain a backlog that helps us develop the right things next with a balanced mix of new features, bug-fixes, small improvements, support tools and necessary upgrades/refactorings.

You'll bring:

-  Several years of professional experience in product management
-  Battle-tested skills as an agile product owner
-  Familiarity with the product development of software components
-  Willingness to develop our web and mobile apps
-  Confidence in writing and [filleting] requirements
-  Ability to actively manage our stakeholders
-  Readiness to host workshops and present results
-  Consistently high standards and awareness of the latest trends
-  An analytical mind-set and the motivation to achieve
-  A focus on producing working solutions as an agile team
-  A good knowledge of English

 Are you the missing piece?

Please send your application, with salary expectation and possible starting date, to: jobs@chess24.com
chess24 GmbH, Winterhuder Weg 82, 22085 Hamburg