

Senior Mobile Developer

Development | Full-Time | Hamburg

At chess24 we're building the best chess platform for current and aspiring chess players.

As a team of IT professionals working with top international chess grandmasters and committed investors, we're creating a state-of-the-art interactive experience for both recreational and experienced chess fans. As a Senior Mobile Developer you'll work in an interdisciplinary agile team and support us in all areas of chess24 development, especially for our mobile apps.

We offer you:

-  A warm welcome and phased introduction
-  A unique job in an inspirational environment where innovation is valued
-  A company with a high potential to grow and lots of creative ideas
-  An awareness that technical requirements and issues must be dealt with
-  A flat hierarchy with an open-minded and transparent environment
-  Flexible working hours
-  Free all-incl. catering
-  A free pass for public transportation

Mobile Hero

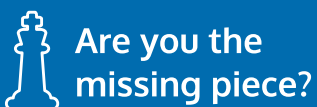

We see ourselves as a team of full stack developers crafting software products, but we each also have our own personal specialities. We look forward to you bringing a passion for and excellence in developing for one of the common platforms iOS and/or Android to our agile team as you join us in creating new features, fixing bugs and ensuring everything runs smoothly.

You'll bring:

-  Several years' professional experience in mobile development
-  Being an expert in one of the platforms iOS or Android
-  Willingness to support developing apps for other platforms too
-  Confidence in Objective-C, Swift or Java
-  Familiarity with the design and architecture of software components
-  Ideally experience of handling WebSockets
-  A readiness to take on front-end and simple design tasks too
-  Consistently high standards and clean code
-  Awareness of the latest trends within the IT scene
-  An analytical mindset and the motivation to achieve
-  A focus on producing working increments in a team environment
-  A good knowledge of English

We'd also be thrilled if you can support us as a mobile specialist with:

-  Evaluating technology and projects
-  Knowledge of UI/UX patterns
-  Experience in development with Vue.js and/or React/ReactNative
-  Experience with other common frameworks
-  A sense of responsibility and aesthetics
-  Supporting responsive web design, fluid layouts and mobile friendliness
-  Practical experience
